The Untapped Labour Pool

The untapped labour pool provides skilled, knowledgeable staffing solutions to foster innovation and problem solving.

On average, people with disabilities have higher education levels (high school, trade school or college) than people without disabilities.

The untapped labour pool provides staffing solutions to chronic HR openings.

An estimated 411,600 individuals with disabilities are not currently employed but have the potential to work. Almost half of these qualified workers are post-secondary graduates.

The “Universal Design” and “Human-Centered Environments” concepts are applied more and more frequently to products we buy and services we receive.

Inclusive designs make inclusive workplaces. This increases environmental and social accessibility for all Canadians.

In 2012, an estimated 3.8 million adult Canadians reported being limited in their daily activities due to a disability, a lack of accommodation, or a difficulty with accessibility.
